1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a semiconductor device, and more particularly to a semiconductor device having a ferroelectric capacitor. 2. Description of the Related Art Semiconductor devices having ferroelectric capacitors are known from non-patent documents (see for example Jpn. Pat. Appln. KOKAI Publication Nos. 2004-248964 and 2005-291766). In a semiconductor device described in each of the non-patent documents, a ferroelectric film having a ferroelectric capacitor is formed on a semiconductor substrate, a protective film is formed over the ferroelectric film, and an electrode is formed over the protective film. In such a semiconductor device, when forming an upper electrode of a ferroelectric capacitor by a chemical vapor deposition method, the upper electrode is formed to reach the semiconductor substrate. As a result, the electrode has a low step coverage, and the likelihood of corrosion to the semiconductor substrate is high. In order to prevent corrosion of the semiconductor substrate, the electrode is preferably formed by a vapor deposition method such as sputtering. In this case, however, since an insulating film such as a protective film is stacked over the semiconductor substrate before the formation of the electrode, the amount of exposure of the semiconductor substrate is large, and hence the likelihood of corrosion to the semiconductor substrate is high.Q: Virtual box network interface not working after host reboot i've installed virtual box on ubuntu 16.04 and i've noticed that network interface does not work after host reboot. Let's say I have an array of strings: string[] Names = { "ClassA", "ClassB", "ClassC" } and I have an object that has a constructor like so: public class TestObject { public string ClassName; public TestObject(string className) { ClassName = className; } } How would I go about doing something like this: public static void BuildClassNames(string[] Names, object[] objects) { foreach(object obj in objects) { try { string buildClassName = string.Empty; foreach (string name in Names) { buildClassName += (obj.ClassName + "." + name); } // append buildClassName to list of class names } catch(Exception e) { // getObj(); } } } Thanks! A: If you're looking to append the values of a string array to a string, then you can do it like this: for (int i = 0; i
